Just taken: Your science site is at the top. The first news article doesn't apply. Next is wiki, which has been cleaned up, then your philanthropy site, then one of our philipine sites on your sports page, then crap from the Huffington Post (they are very powerful, have a lot of links, and so, our links need to click in to beat them), blah, blah, blah, and then, sports again on the bottom. It's getting there. Lots and lots of full time work going into this... Not easy or trivial.
