Hi Jeffrey,

could you forward this to the new SEO tech person? Or could I have his/her email to send it? It's the chart that gives access to all of your websites, social profiles, blog, directories etc.

Hi,

Attached is the database for all of Jeffrey's websites, social sites, directories etc. It includes the usernames and passwords to enter the profiles.

I wanted to update you that we had the Google results down to one negative listing but then I optimized the heading tags, browser names etc to the websites (8 out of 9 of them) and the results reverted to disaster.

My sense is that by optimizing all websites, the engines are now deprioritizing them as a group-- since there is overload.

Thus, does it make sense to reverse what I did so that the engines go back to prioritizing 4 out of 9 sites?

I leave this up to you. But wanted to give you some history.

Feel free to contact me with any questions.

Thank you,
