Dear Jeffrey:

Good to talk last week. I'm going to make a list, but off of the top of my head, here are a few more names of edgy science types:

J. Scott Turner

Dean Simonton

Duncan Watts

Nancey Murphy

Ahmed Zewail

Frank Sulloway

Alex Kacelnik

Also, there are many interesting world-class thinkers that have come to various high-level symposia hosted by the foundation. With the assistance of my PA Marlene Ryan, I'm putting a few associated outlines into the overnight mail to you today – we just need an address.

Could you tell me where to send them?

Thanks,

Barnaby

Anyone you don't know on an immediate list, ask me or google them. All are good friends of mine for years, but these very high end circles travel together, so you should be very familiar with almost all of them. And, a few that you don't know, are off the charts, and in some respects smarter than the ones that are familiar... ;-) They just didn't seek the limelight. I have marked these people with an asterisk. Not everyone on this list is a scientist.

There is no order to this list (this is a cross-section off the top of my head). I can think of more names if I put my mind to it, but lets start here:

I am happy to discuss anyone here

*Jay Walker

Christof Koch

*Terry Sejnowski

Danny Hillis

*Bran Ferren

Vilamur Ramachandran

Lisa Randall

Frances Arnold
